Court Upholds Action as to Old West minster Congregation.

The Appellate Division of the Suprem Court upheld the right of the New York Presbytery yesterday to eject the Westminster Fresbyterian Church from its church, at No. 208 to 214 West 23d street. and organize a new congregation to occupy minster Church was dissolved by the Presbytery, which took charge of the property and later organized a new congregation. known as the West Twenty-third Street the building formerly occupied by the Westminster congregation.

The permanent judicial commission of the Presbyterian Church upheld the action of lin, in writing the opinion of the Appellate Division, said: "Since all the members of the congregation of the dissolved church ceased to be members of the church upon plaintiff (the Presbytery) as a corporation thereby stood vested with the legal title to the property, but without trusees or corporate members."

J. B. M'DONALD RESTS EASIER. John B. McDonald, the subway builder and contractor, was reported as resting both. The number of Episcopal young men at Cornell is about four hundred and fifty.
